

Happy birthday Gyanu,

This birthday is going to be very special for you. You are eighteen now, a magical age to get. Finally, eligible for vaccination, so get the jabs ASAP. This letter is the best gift I could give on this occasion.

You have been a innocent yet irritating sibling. Now its time to become little responsible. Human behaviour is designed to act notorious and rebellious at this age. I expect from you to understand the environment better and respond accordingly, rather than reacting absurdly. These few years will decide the trajectory of your journey, and you know how important role, initial conditions play from projectile chapter. Being the youngest in the family you will get all the guidance & support externally, but real guide is within you. Hard times will come and go. Just remember everything is transient, nothing is permanent in this world. Physical fitness and mental wellness are the real wealth one should have for happiness. So, start working on both front.

Dont forget you smile :)

Be happy & enjoy,
Gyanchand
